JOHN BURGE

'MASS FOR PRISONERS OF CONSCIENCE: THE COMPOSER'S PERSPECTIVE'

He will be joined by members of the Concert Choir and the soloists, for what will be a stimulating introduction to tomorrow evening's premiere performance

John Burge has been teaching at the School of Music, Queen's University since the fall of 1987. A graduate of the University of Toronto, he studied composition with Professors John Beckwith, Walter Buczynski, John Hawkins, and Derek Holman. While he has composed music in a wide variety of mediums, he has written many choral pieces; these have been performed by such choirs as the Elmer Iseler Singers, Vancouver's Cantata Singers, the Phoenix Chamber Choir, and the BBC Singers
